

Future of Architecture?

2024 Round Table Forum: The American Home

With media, technology, industries changing so rapidly, today's academic curriculum struggles to prepare the next generation for unpredictable work environments. Nearly every facet of society is disrupted at an ever-increasing rate of speed, almost continually.

So, what's the future for architecture? In particular, the American home: at the heart of family life, forming lifelong foundational perspectives and very often, society's measure of success. Join us for a frank, in-depth discussion debating the future of an industry and the American dream.

Food, drink and lively conversation will fill the hall of the Fox Chapel Golf Club, with a panel of local practicing professionals, professors and homeowners, where the audience is welcome to participate with questions and comments. The fee for admission is an inquisitive mind, for insights into where this is all heading. Seating is limited, so please visit the QR code below to reserve.

Wednesday, September 18th, 2024

presented at the

Fox Chapel Golf Club

6pm meet & greet: hors d'oeuvres and drinks

7pm round table forum: debating the future of architecture and the American home.

Panelists: Gerard Damiani, Associate Professor, CMU School of Architecture
Tom Trzcinski, Founder of Kitchen & Bath Concepts of Pittsburgh
Thomas Reynolds, Founder of Dovetail Home Improvements
Lorri Tobolski-Mogus, Floral Designer at Roxanne's Dried Flowers
Chuck Hoover, Meta Director of Research Development, Adjunct Faculty, CMU
Moderator: Matthew Schlueb, Founder of SCHLUEBarchitecture

Attendees: Architecture, Art & Design students & faculty from CMU & PITT
Design Professionals, Artisans & Manufacturers in the Industry
Homeowners in the Pittsburgh Region
Members and Affiliates of the All-Ivy-Plus Group
Factory 500 Members of the Mattress Factory

SCHLUEBarchitecture thanks the following sponsors, whose support made this event possible.

